Clain-Stefanelli 6491. Two classic works, principally on German numismatics. Joseph Appel (1767-1834) was employed at the Austrian Mint. Rare.

Volumes had appeared such a wealth of tokens remained frustrated that it was decided to extend the series to eight volumes. Initiated by Denon, the last two parts were published by Pratten. The work appeared at ten to fourteen day intervals in printed wrappers, price sixpence: twelve tokens of three plates comprising a number. Given the method of distribution, the change in publisher (many sets are comprised of only the first 180 plates), and the greediness of early collectors to cut up plates to illustrate other books (the famous "water work" for example) it is not surprising that few complete sets have survived, especially in sound contemporary bindings.

Sinkinkas 6376: "A beautifully produced book made from high class materials save for the spine leather which in virtually all copies seem to be dry powdery and commonly fallen away altogether... The text is easily assimilable and notable for inclusion of the most important facts presented with high degree of accuracy. Apparently the work was never put up for public sale but issued to specially favored customers of the celebrated London court jewellers. The colored plates are superb and the book is mostly esteemed for these although there is nothing to be faulted in the text. Rarely found with sound binding." Armorial ex libris Kenneth G. Mappin. The spine of this copy is supple and fully intact and the binding is sound. Apparently the personal copy of one of the principals of the long-established firm of Mappin & Webb, publishers of this esteemed work.

With our compliments and best wishes, Abe Kosoff, Abner Kreisberg." Hirsute-challenged, Ralph early on acquired the nickname "Curly" although in the souvenir journal photo a few strands of what appears to be hair still grace his brow. Friendly, outgoing and indefatigable, he was a fixture in California numismatics for half a century and few, if any, did more to promote coin collecting in the Golden State.

Original black cloth, decorated in blind and gilt, extremities a trifle worn but strictly a fine crisp example. 200.00

A fascinating work. Those interested in fractional currency will find several chapters to be of particular interest, including INVESTIGATIONS IN THE TREASURY DEPARTMENT, STARTLING DISCLOSURES IN THE TREASURY DEPARTMENT AND COUNTERFEITERS AND COUNTERFEITING. The series of accusations of impropriety revolved around Spencer M. Clark, Superintendent of the National Currency Bureau and included "gross immoralities and fraudulent operations in the Treasury Department. It was more than intimated, by those who ought to have known that among the hundreds of females employed there, some were not virtuous, while in the regular operations of the establishment fraud had a place." Specific charges included "complicity with Bank Note Companies," and "gross immorality" concerning "S. M. Clark, in connection with certain female employees of his department." Though these and other allegations created a sensation at the time, Baker's methods and motives as chief of the United States Secret Service were subsequently largely discredited. According to the Dictionary of American Biography, his "habitual carelessness in mixing truth and fiction was not overcome in his History of the United States Secret Service." Due no doubt to its sensational nature, the work saw wide distribution at the time and even today is encountered with some regularity. It is especially sought after by those interested in Lincolniana since Baker was instrumental in the planning and direction of the expedition that captured John Wilkes Booth and these events are covered in the book in some detail. Due to considerable demand and a fragile binding, however, most of the copies encountered today are either falling apart or have been rebound.

Original black half roan, gilt, lacking rear free flyleaf. Very good. 100.00
 A series of bibliographies large and devoted to famous counterfeiters of the day. This, the first edition, was published by Lee & Shepard in conjunction with Laban Heath of Counterfeit Detector fame. According to Patterson Smith, "Scarcely issued, the dated 1872 Lee & Heath's reprint appeared, a tipped in cover for the detector. Subsequent editions appeared under different titles, at least one of which was published anonymously, and in 1879 a new edition was issued featuring an ornate roundly illustrated cloth cover with the more familiar title of American Counterfeits, How Detected and How Avoided."

Very fine. 1,500.00
 Exbibliothèque Rollin (Paris). Both catalogues were probably sent back to the original paper covers. None of the margins were trimmed when bound. The plate margins appear to be unusually wide. The binding is a fine plate, judging from the Davis cover on its p. 23. State College (Connecticut), New Jersey (Rhode Island). Most likely it was never sent. Both catalogues are unusually clean and fresh and the plates are crisp, clear impressions. The Earle plates were not overprinted. The catalogue apparently having been sent early to compensate for the time required for the catalogue to arrive in Paris by sea mail.

INCLUDING A SERIES OF ENGLISH CROWNS: TO WHICH IS ADDED THE WAR MEDALS OF THE JEWETT COLLECTION INCLUDING THE RARE GEORGE III INDIAN MEDAL, AND A SMALL COLLECTION OF COINS. Philadelphia, October 21-22, 1910. Clain-Stefanelli 7899, Sigler 757, Davis 339: "A pioneer in the field of American numismatics, it served as the sole reference until Dickeson's work in 1859." Printed book label of Geo. D. Brue, Pittsburgh. The extremely rare December 1849 supplement, comprising pages 221-240, contains the attractive plate of California and Mormon gold coins (probably the earliest metallic embossed coin illustrations produced in this country), the tipped-in Mormon plate, and the first appearance of the unusual and sought-after packet of actual gold samples. The principal work itself is a landmark in American numismatics. In addition to being the only practical guide available to American coin collectors, it was also the first work to announce and depict pioneer gold coins and the first to describe the 1840 dollar. Additionally, according to Arthur H. Frazer, in his 1975 Smithsonian Institution publication on Joseph Saxton, it is one of the earliest works to combine daguerotype photography, electrotyping and the earliest rolling machine for illustrative purposes. California gold rush bubbles appear to be largely unaware of this handsome publication. The authors, 1850, New York: With gold samples, far less important, but the first and, alas, the only, more available (though still rare), seems to have captured their attention and is eagerly sought. Were this book more well known in reference book collecting circles, it would doubtless become largely unavailable to numismatists at any price.

Clain-Stefanelli 13608, McKeerchar 536. While this work is greatly desired because of the 16 pages of superb vignettes, it is also a font of useful information. The "Historical Exposition" table, tracing from 1795 the many antecedents of the firm, is especially valuable for research.

The chequiness of Mint Catalogue becomes insuperable in the range of this catalogue. Restrikes, rare patterns and other Mint products are numerous. The collection was assembled by the United States Treasury and the sale did not take place. Several months later, the collection was purchased by the auspices of Scott Stamp & Coin Company, minus a number of pieces confiscated by Treasury agents as being in violation of the 1867 legislation that Linderman himself had helped to draft. This last chapter in the history of the Mint is ably chronicled by Don Taxay in The U.S. Mint and Coinage.
